Dr. John Balian

CEO of ClinChoice corporation

Topic: Clinical Trials and Clinical Research in Armenia

About the presenter:

Dr. Balian's academic prowess shines with a B.A. from Columbia University and an M.D. from Tufts University School of Medicine. His career path led through transformative experiences, including roles at the FDA, Pfizer, Bristol-Myers Squibb, and Johnson & Johnson. Notably, his trailblazing work in leveraging data for patient care has set new standards in the field.

A true advocate for progress, Dr. Balian's influence extends beyond his corporate roles. He contributes to the boards of BonAyu Life Sciences and DataFoundry Inc., and as the Co-Founder, Board Member, and CEO International of ClinChoice Inc., he's a driving force in clinical research. Dr. Balian's journey is chronicled in his novel "Gray Wolves and White Doves," a captivating account of his remarkable experiences. His story mirrors the immigrant narrative and exemplifies the power of the human spirit in overcoming challenges. This event offers a unique opportunity to engage with Dr. Balian's narrative of resilience, leadership, and success. We eagerly anticipate your presence.

We appreciate your attendance, participation and interest in the AESA Northeastern section activities.
